

To whom it may concern,

I would highly recommend Alexis Abruzzo for any and all positions in data analysis. During my time working with her, Alexis utilized her skills for data management to target the most profitable referral sources for our practice. She was detail oriented and was able to quickly identify trends to be able to grow the practice. By developing and analyzing spreadsheets, Alexis was able to formulate areas of growth vs areas of maintenance to best focus her efforts toward managing her time efficiently and effectively. She was always dependable and often could be found putting in effort well above her job duties, always going out of her way to help others. She truly made the workplace better and is a joy to work with.

Thank you,
